Editorial Comment.

Thanks to the persistency of the Sanifary Board and the public agitation in our columns some months ago, we are at last enabled to judge of the action of the Government in the very important question of the Kowloon Water Supply. The judgment we are thus enabled to form is far from favourable, to those responsible for the delay which has occurred and the further delay now threatened in providing the 'dependency' of Kowloon with an efficient and adequate draw :-- water supply. It was the persistent agitation of the few Enropean residents in Kowloon eight or nine years ago that induced the Government than to provide the peninsula with water, it is again evident that the public will have to press the Government toproceed with the new works if anything is to be done at all to nmeliorate the condition of the Kowloon residents within a reasonable period. A recent Guiette contains three reports on the question. The first is an abloand exhaustive report by Mr L. Gibbs, whose acquaintance with the Hungkong and Kawleon water supplies renders him the best autherity on the subject now in the Colony. and probably second only to Mr F. A. Cooper, the former Director of Public Works. That report gives a description of the existing works and a scheme for an increased supply. It is proposed to build a reservoir of 130,000,000 gallons capacity on a stream in the neighbourhood of the new Taipo Rund. It is estimated that this | On Time! will give a supply of 500,000 gallons a-day, the present supply being about 300,000 gallons. The cost, with the necessary filter beds, mains, service-resor- 200 Cambridge Road, N.E., Jan. 4, 1901. voirs, &c., is put at $380,000. The mains, service-reservoirs, &c., will be of sufficient capacity to allow of an increased supply, Road, breaks the record for arriving first and it is estimated that for a further $230,000 the supply can be increased to 1,380,000 gallons a-day. Mr Gibbs report (which is dated 8th January, 1980, and is, therefore, more than a year old already) was, it appears, submitted for the opinion of Mr Chadwick, the Consulting ploy a stop-watch and subdivide the ters. Mr Chadwick reported under date one which 'should be carried out forthwith.' He suggested sundry alterations in the details of the proposed works, the principal of which was the substitution . of a masonry for an earthen dam. Now, Mr Ormsby, under date 12th December, 1990, comes forward with a proposal to change the site of the dam and to increase its size, and it is proposed that the suggestion shall be referred home to Mr Chadwick. We are quite prepared to admit that Mr Chroby is prompted to this by the best intentions, but has he ever heard of , that celebrated pavement where water is at a very high premium. We do not pretend to judge in technical matters, but surely if would be better to adopt perhaps the less comprehensive scheme at once than wait for years while the experts are thrashing out the question whether the dam is to be placed 600 feet up or down the valley. Mr

but let the worthy Director of Public Works keep before him the present necessities and the needs of the immediate future. Mr

Gibbs shows clearly enough how the supply can be added to from time to time as increase of population and consumption jus-anqualified approval in this connection.

On the question of the site of the dam we do not see the wisdom of Legation Improvements at Peking.

Mr William Cowan, the Surveyor in H.B.M. a Office of Works for China, Japan, Cores, and Siam, who was in Peking during the siege, has gone to England on fifteen months' leave of absence. Mr Cecil Simpson has been appointed by His Majesty's Commissioners of Works and Public Buildings, as Surreyor-in-Charge during taking up the Assistant Surveyorship. It show that some fine contests are assured in ionist showed considerable improvement on is expected (says the N.-C. Daily News) the first round:that the office will have plenty of work on its hands this year in the restoration of the British Legation at Peking, which suffored so much in the siege. The Legation was immediately the siege was over, put into temporary habitable condition for the J. winter, and now the permanent work of restoration is to be undertaken. It is probable that the Legation compound will be considerably extended, and doubtless effective means will be taken to prevent the possibility of its being fired on again from close quariers. If a scheme for a European Reservation in Peking is completed, the British Legation will form the north-nest corner of it, and the defences will doubtless be on a par with these of the outer lines of the Reservation, which include, it is said, a clear circular space or zone of about 100 yards' breadth round the

THE BARFLEUR' INCIDENT.

In talling attention to the story of the alleged mutiny on board Her Majesty's suit. ship Barfleur at Hongkong, which resolves itself, upon investigation, into petty acts of insubordination, such as will occur at times even in the best regulated services, the Thegraph states :- Such mishshaviour is most reprehensible, and if the crime is brought home to the prisoners now awaiting court-martial, their punishment will doubtless be exemplary and well-merited. But to magnify this trifling occurrence, and the alleged grievaness to which it is attributed, into an obstinate mutiny of the whole crew of so distinguished a ship as the Barfleur is needlessly to alarm the public at home, and to cast an undeserved slur upon the Navy, of which we are all so justly proud. Sailors the world over are proverbially grumblers from habit and tradition rather than from my real feeling, but a more loyal and devoted set of men than ISSUE OF THE NEW EXCHEthose who serve in the Royal Navy no Admind need over ask to command.

THE ATTACK ON EUROPEANS NEAR CANTON.

Execution of Nine Pirates.

(From a Ourespondent:) CANTON, February 14. At 7,30 this morning, H. M. gunboat Robin, conveying Mr Twyman, British Vice-Consul, and a few naval officers; the German gunboat Shameen, convoying Mr Lange, of the German Consulate, and Commander S. Thanhardt, of the German orniser Luchs; a steam launch convoying Mr Housen, the Dutch Consul (one of the four gentlemen attacked), and a party of friends, left for Sam Yung Kee, the place where the four Europeans from Canton were recently attacked by pirates and three of them wounded. This had been fixed as the rendezvous to witness the execution of two of the men concerned in that attack.

The three vessels reached Sam Yung Kee ab Il am. Cards were sent asiere to the officials, who, however, informed the respective foreign representatives, in whose prosence the execution was to take place, that the Sun Tak magistrate had not yet arrived. The river front was lined with about 200 soldiers under General Li's command. At 11.45, the Sun Tak Magistrate appeared, escorted by a native gunboat. He at once went on board the Shameen, where the foreign representatives had assembled. The II.M.S. Underuntal, after serving two Chumber disapproved of the conduct of the magistrate did not wish the foreigners to be witnessed from the gunboat. After some discussion however, the party was conducted to a Chinese junk and thence to

The two prisoners were then led to a small matched, where the judge passed sontence upon them. They were taken down to the riverside, and there the decapitation was accomplished in a few seconds. Their heads were placed in two smell cages, and left beside the bodies.

Seven other pintos were executed a few minutes after. These were not concerned in the attack upon the Europeans.

Ali was over at a quarter to one o'clock, when the three vessels set out upon the reture journey. At the Chun Chum channei, a Chinese passenger jank was mot. The Chinese reported that the steam launch which had been towing them had been c youred by pirates, who stoamed away in her. It is evident from this that the Sun Tak magistrate is not a terror to evil-doers; also that the piritis are case-Lardened. For here was another during outrage perpetrated while the heads of nine whilem comradus were being lopped off a few miles

CANTON NOTES.

(From Our Own Correspondent). CANTON MISSIONARY CONFERENCE.

CANTON, February 13. The Canton Missionary Conference met at the house of the Rev. J. Boggs, Fa Ti, on Wednesday aftermoon. There was a good attendance of members. The Rev. W. Bridie, the retiring President, was in the chair. The first business was the election of officers for the current year. The result of the voting was as follows :- Rev. followed with keen interest by all lovers of H. J. Stevens, President : Rev. E. Ward; Vice-President; Rev. A. Beattle, Ph.D., Secretary, The Rev. J. Boggs, the essayist, rend an interesting and instructive paper on Wat Un, the Chinese patriot, whose virtues and tragic death are celebrated throughout the length and breadth of China on the fifth day of the fifth month every year. Mr Boggs gave an able sketch of the life and times of Wat. Un, and also an estimate of the value of the poetic writings of the hero. The specimens of the verse were so beautiful that all who · have not hitherto studied the writings of this ancient poet, and that includes the ginning.

$256,757.20 carried to new account. During the past six months the Company has docked a much larger amount of tonnage than in any former half-year, so that our docking resources have been utilised to the utmost limit in meeting the domands made upon us, and your Directors feel that if they are unable, within a reasonable time, to obtain from the Government a suitable site on equitable terms and come as a revelation. Mr. Allen has a big, conditions for the construction of another and by no means unmerited, reputation in dock, then a large portion of our business will be forced, from want, of docking accommodation, to go to some other port whence there would be difficulty in attracting it back to this Colony.

The comprehensive scheme of reconstruction for our Kowloon Establishment is now well in hand, and every effort is being made to have the new workshops and all the accessories completed at as early a date as possible, increased facilities in our workshops being greatly needed. Electricity as an illuminant and as a motor power is being increasingly appreciated, and engineers, are finding electrically-driven nunchines more effective, speedier and more economical than was the case with steam. and with the view of having the whole of our plant as much up to date as possible. plans are now being prepared for a complete installation of the most modern type is that of a poor lad reared in the cloistered of Electric Motors.

Directors. - In accordance with clause 78 of the Articles of Association Messes J. S. Van Buren and J. H. THE LIFE AND DEATH OF RICHARD YEA-AND NAY. BY MAURICE HEWLETT, London : Macmillan and Co., Limited. (Forwarded by Messre Kelly and Walsh, Ltd.)

We heartily recommend this book to all who have not yet made acquaintance with the author's previous novel; to these, as well as to those who know the Forest Lovers,' the present volume, No. 406 in Macmillan's Colonial Library, will prove an unhositating delight. It is the story of the wayward deings of Richard of the Lionheart, who, although King of England during the last ten years of the twelfth century, only spent a few months on our shores. As an historical romance, it will surely rank with Kingsley's Hereward the Wake. We cannot easily give it greater praise, and it is unquestionably deserving of noise lesser. It is apparently, in great part, taken from the chronicles of Milo, a Carthasian monk, Abbot of the cloister of Saint Mary-of-the-Pine, by Pointiers. From exordium to epilogue, through well over four hundred pages of closely-woven, finely-tissued plot, the in-terest never for a moment flags. The opening finds Richard Count of Poicton, long-armed red Angevin, Henry II., then old, passionate and wicked, still holds away. Yea-and-Nay is Bertran de Born's and a bonus of 14 per cent. or $218,750, nickname for Cour-de-lion. The closing chapter is of Richard's untimely end at holders, bonuses of $20,000 to Contribut. Chaluz. The plot is much too good to be spoilt by any kind of opitome, no matter pean Staff, that $82,862.96 be written from how cleverly boiled down. Mr Hewlett the value of the Kowloon Docks, 817,769 has a distinctly literary style; his prose is from the Cosmopolitan Dock, $4,640 from at once vigorous, limpid and unhalting. Steam Launches, $97,620.07 from the cost of material on hand, and the balance welcome numerous additions.

RUGBY FOOTBALL

ROYAL ARTILLERY t. THE CLUB A rugby football match was played yesterday between the Royal Artillery and The Club. The Club won the toss, and started a man short, and had to place Van der Pfordien out to three-quarter. The ground was too dry, and it was difficult to get a footbold. As a consequence the game was not so good as others that have been played this season. Captain Tulloch dropped a goal for the Artillery, but this was followed by a try for the Club which was converted by Hallifar, 'There was no further scoring during thefirst period.
